LOCAL TEACHER WINS NCTE AFFILIATE WEBSITE AWARD

The National Council of Teachers of English (NCTE) has given its 2007 Affiliate Website Award to the Virginia Association of Teachers of English (<http://www.vate.org>), edited by Linda MacCleave of Midlothian, Virginia.

The Affiliate Website Awards will be presented on November 17, 2007, at the NCTE Annual Convention in New York City, by the NCTE Standing Committee on Affiliates during the Affiliate Roundtable Breakfast.

Established in 2000, the awards are designed to recognize those websites which are outstanding for their high quality content, easy navigation, size, and speed. The entries were judged by a committee of independent judges.

Honorable mention went to the Florida Council of Teachers of English (<http://www.fcte.org>), edited by Shirley Rutter of Spring Hill, Florida.

The National Council of Teachers of English, with more than 50,000 individual and institutional members worldwide, is dedicated to improving the teaching and learning of English and the language arts at all levels of education. Its membership is composed of elementary, middle, and high school teachers, supervisors of English programs, college and university faculty, teacher educators, local and state agency English specialists, and professionals in related fields.
